Barbara Atkinson

Overview of the UNLV School of Medicine

Dr. Barbara Atkinson is an accomplished researcher, educator and administrator in the fields of medicine and medical education. She has spent her entire career in medical school leadership, creating innovative learning environments for future physicians.

As UNLV School of Medicine Founding Dean, Dr. Atkinson has overseen all aspects of the formation and launch of the new medical school, inclusive of leading the school's charter accreditation, faculty recruitment, planning and implementing the school's educational blueprint, managing overall school operations, philanthropy and community outreach.

Atkinson also worked to develop concurrent frameworks for the school's faculty practice plan, graduate medical education program, hospital affiliation agreements and community clinical teaching sites. The School of Medicine and the 21 clinics that make up the practice plan currently employ more than a thousand people.

Dr. Atkinson was appointed planning dean for the UNLV School of Medicine in May 2014. Since that time she has created an innovative vision and education program for the school, garnered strong regional and legislative support, hired a core team of academic faculty and staff, and assembled a Community Advisory Board to align regional needs with the school's mission. In 2015, the university raised $13.5 million in less than 60 days to fund 135 scholarships for future medical school students - including the entire charter class expected to begin classes in 2017.

Before coming to UNLV, Dr. Atkinson was emeritus vice chancellor and professor with the University of Kansas School of Medicine. As dean of the school and then executive vice chancellor of the Kansas City medical center campus, Dr. Atkinson refocused the school to better serve regional needs. This included opening a new campus in Salina, Kan. to address the state's physician shortage and expanding the school's Wichita campus from a two-year to a full four-year program. In 2012 the University of Kansas became just the 67th school nationwide to earn National Cancer Institute designation, which involved raising $500 million over 10 years.

She was elected to the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences in 1997 now known as the National Academy of Medicine, and in 2010 was appointed by President Barack Obama to the Presidential Commission for the Study of Bioethical Issues. In 2011, the University of Kansas Medical Center established the Barbara F. Atkinson Professorship in Pathology and Laboratory Medicine.

Dr. Atkinson has held faculty appointments with the University of Kansas School of Medicine and Medical Center, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, Medical College of Pennsylvania (now Drexel University College of Medicine), MCP Hahnemann University, and Allegheny University of the Health Sciences.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

This past Monday we celebrated Presidents' Day honoring George Washington and Abraham Lincoln who are regarded as the two best presidents to ever serve the United States. Although Presidents' Day is a federally recognized holiday, its actual name is Washington's Birthday. The holiday used to be celebrated on February 22 which is recognized as his birthday (more on that later). The holiday was moved to the third Monday in each February in 1971 by the Uniform Monday Holiday Act. The act moved federal holidays to Mondays to keep workflow from being interrupted by mid-week federal holidays. Although Lincoln is recognized on Presidents' Day, there is no official federal holiday honoring President Lincoln.

In my opinion, George Washington's greatest single act was to decline to run for a third term as President of the United States. Washington was extremely popular and could have been president for life if he chose to. Instead, Washington initiated the peaceful transfer of executive power to John Adams who was thereafter succeeded by Thomas Jefferson and so on. At a time when such transfers were unheard of, George Washington's actions demonstrated that democracy works. Washington's proof that democracy works is America's greatest gift to the world.

There are some interesting things about him that you probably do not know. Believe it or not, George Washington did not have a middle name. To be fair, when you are George Washington do you need a middle name? Another interesting fact, George Washington's actual birthday was February 11. When the colonies switched from the Julian Calendar to the Gregorian Calendar his birthday was moved by 11 days. According to the Christian Science Monitor, in 1789 his salary was 2% of the total U.S. budget. In 1792 he was named as an honorary citizen of France. And finally, in recognition of his service to our country, he was posthumously promoted to General of the Armies of the United States. That is the highest rank ever given to a military commander in the United States. No military officer will ever outrank George Washington.
