MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Once again, Las Vegas is facing a challenge with COVIG-19 and the direct impact the media coverage has had on the Convention Capital of the World. To quote our Mayor, Carolyn Goodman, she recently told tourism officials that the media coverage of the coronavirus is, "absolutely destroying us and this is no time for us to be wimps." Our Mayor, gotta love her!

According to the RJ dated March 13, "The new coronavirus is known to have infected a tiny fraction of the U.S. population, and far more people globally have recovered from it than have died. It's also too early to gauge the overall economic impact the virus is having on Las Vegas, given how new the crisis is and the lack of available data." Massive amounts of cancellations have occurred.

Stephen Miller, director of UNLV's Center for Business and Economic Research, noted there are still plenty of unknowns, including how widespread the virus will become. But he said it is "clearly going to affect the tourism sector," and if the virus leads to severe economic damage and a recession, Las Vegas would "probably feel it more than other metro areas."

Our city has weathered economic hits before. 9/11 caused a severe drop in tourism revenue and I heard the Strip described as so desolate, one could roll a bowling ball down the middle. Workers in the tourism industry, hotels, gaming, restaurants and attractions depend on tourist dollars and tokens to make ends meet, are the first to see cuts in their hours. In fact, layoffs are underway as the major hotel casinos close their doors as per the directive of Governor Sisolak.

9/11 however had a more predictable end. Once the planes started flying and the markets were trading, our city recovered nicely. 1 October held our city in a state of despair for a period of time as we came to grips with scope of the tragedy. However, once again, the MGM group of hotels saw some challenging times and they still recovered over a reasonable period of time.

Dealing with the unknown makes any attempt at predicting anything not much more than wishful thinking. But we Las Vegans are full of hope, passion, and a can-do attitude which makes other cities envious of if not downright jealous.

A side-note, what the heck is with this hoarding?? I went to the store and TP shelves were empty! So were the water, rice, tuna and beans shelves. Well... "This is where people really start to have a distorted idea about what's needed to survive," explains clinical psychologist Stephen Benning. We all need to step back and gauge our reactions to anxiety. Humans can manage a lot, but when we're scared, we tend to underestimate ourselves and to overestimate how real a threat is.

As Rotarians, we have been working to eradicate Polio for decades, providing clean water to third world communities, responding to famine and disasters, clothing the needy, helping the homeless, so much more and not without the clear and present danger to ourselves.

This is the real measure of our can-do attitude. Control what is possible, such as social interaction and let go of what we individually cannot control, namely the virus itself.

THE LAS VEGAS ROTARY CLUB

Dear Fellow Rotarians,

The COVID-19 coronavirus is affecting every aspect of our lives in real time, and this puts Rotarians in an unfamiliar place. As People of Action, we are most comfortable when we are fully engaged in the world – moving freely, meeting openly, and offering helping hands. These are very difficult times for people who, like us, are at our best when we are learning, growing, and serving—together.

We are also leaders in our communities, and these times call for leadership. In many ways, this also is our time. We have proven abilities to reach out and collaborate to offer immediate help to people in need at a rapid pace. These are precisely the skills needed all over the world today. The global effort against COVID-19 depends on actions taken in every country. Rotary has the unique ability to help improve those efforts in every community and every country.

Using all the technology we have at our disposal, we as Rotarians can continue to reach out and collaborate on big projects with Rotary clubs, Rotaractors, and Interactors. There are a number of examples where Rotary clubs are helping health authorities communicate best practices or provide needed equipment or support that have been shared with our leaders around the world.

As Rotary's president and president-elect, we have been thinking of these issues very seriously in regard to upcoming Rotary events. As you may be aware, we have made the difficult decision to cancel two Rotary Presidential Conferences honoring our relationship with the United Nations- one in Paris, another in Rome. In the near term, we recommend that Rotary districts and clubs cancel or postpone meetings or events following the advice of national and local health officials.

We know that clubs and districts are seizing the opportunity to become leaders in their communities and are making better use of technology in this time of need. For example, a Rotary e-club in Italy held a live online session about COVID-19 awareness, a Taiwan club worked with companies and a pharmacy association to donate 1,600 bottles of hand sanitizer to the city of Ji-Long, and Rotary clubs in Sri Lanka helped upgrade software and hardware for the health promotion bureau to assist its social messaging.

We cannot know quite yet what path this virus will take. We know we can play a role to help "flatten the curve," reducing the number of cases in the short term to allow our health systems to address this issue. If the collective global effort helps bring the situation under control, then we hope to re-embrace our core values at the 2020 Rotary Convention in Honolulu. Our time together will have greater meaning and purpose than ever.

We are following the lead of the world's most trusted sources, including the World Health Organization (WHO) and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, for their guidance. We have made the decision to cancel the International Convention in Hawaii.

We have an opportunity to demonstrate that Rotary Connects the World in innovative ways. We should be closely following the advice of the WHO and local health authorities. Again, this includes canceling Rotary club events and meetings in the short term to reduce unnecessary interactions that could cause infections. We can put a greater emphasis on the work we do in our communities by helping our less fortunate neighbors cope with the effects of isolation and fear, or by supporting our health authorities to address this situation.

We are dealing with this situation in real time. Please visit the rotary.org COVIG - 19 page for ongoing updates.

This is an unprecedented challenge for nearly all of us. But it is also an opportunity for Rotarians to find new, meaningful ways to lead individuals and communities to connect and do good in the world.

We have never been prouder to be part of an organization that does so much to protect and strengthen our communities, at home and across the globe.

Kindest regards,

Mark Daniel Maloney
