The Animal Foundation

With a degree in Animal Sciences and extensive experience in animal care, humane education, shelter medicine and development and management, Chief Operating Officer Carly Scholten is a passionate animal welfare professional who has dedicated her career to saving and improving the lives of animals. Prior to joining The Animal Foundation team, Carly worked to develop and streamline shelter operations by identifying and implementing supporting technology, procedures and manpower at organizations including PAWS Chicago and Champaign County Humane Society.

Carly takes pride in creating memorable guest experiences and building successful community partnerships to better serve and save animals. She is leading the charge to accomplish Mission: Possible 2020 through implementation of new programs, growth of existing programs, and campus infrastructure updates and additions. Her dogged approach to maximizing lifesaving and improving animal welfare is why Carly is certain The Animal Foundation will reach its lofty goal of saving all healthy and treatable animals that enter its care by the end of the year 2020. Carly knows her team and this community will make this mission possible!

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

We were originally going to hear Steve Hill from the Las Vegas Convention and Visitors Authority speak at this week's meeting. He cancelled due to the coronavirus directives. We will try to get him rescheduled in the future. This got me thinking. I wanted to discover how the Public Relations agency for our city is dealing these days.

Here is a 25-cent version of how the LVCVA evolved: From their website: "Visionary elected officials, convinced that convention business was crucial to the growth of the city, went before the Nevada State Legislature to ask for funding. In 1955, the State Legislature agreed to finance the Clark County Fair and Recreation Board (the precursor to the LVCVA) with moneys acquired from a room tax levied on hotel and motel properties in Clark County. This revenue, paid for by tourists and not by local residents, allowed the Las Vegas Convention Center to be constructed and operate without any tax assessment on Clark County residents, and allowed the LVCVA to begin a program of destination marketing."

I remember when I first moved here nearly 30 years ago, there was an office called the Las Vegas Sun Archives. It was closed down, which was a shame since it held so much of our city's history along with old photos and newspaper articles which could be purchased. Yes, I know UNLV has extensive historical archives, it was still fun to browse the old office. Enjoy a sample: I think I see Dan Tanna!

So, what is going on today? We know our convention and tourism business has been severely damaged. All sorts of pundits are predicting everything from a v-shaped economic recovery to complete doom. So, what does our PR agency say? Since we don't have Steve Hill to answer that question, here is what my research has uncovered. "LAS VEGAS – With social distancing and work from home regulations in place, more people are relying on video conferencing to stay connected. To take a break from the mundane while away from colleagues, family and friends, Las Vegas has created a series of virtual backgrounds for Zoom, one of the largest videoconferencing providers." Tourists can take a tour of our city without leaving the comfort of their homes.

The Neon Museum, Mob Museum, Wynn, even the Cirque shows are virtual. What is the long-term impact of this? It seems as if we can virtually tour anything, real estate for sale, cruising, other famous cities such as Paris, London, Madrid, Vienna and so on. So, this has been and continues to be the question, what happens when the directives are lifted? Will tourists return at the same levels? No one has a Crystal Ball. What we have is precedent in that our City survived 911 and 1 October. We will come through this as well.

Jacqueline Thornhill

So, continue to enjoy living in Las Vegas, the Entertainment Capitol of the World." For all of us who have been impacted, I will continue to believe as we all will, that we live in the greatest city on earth!

ROTARY INTERNATIONAL

We are pleased to invite you to participate in a COVID-19 #RotaryResponds one-hour Telethon to raise critical funds for disaster response. This Facebook Live event will be simulcast on the Rotary International Facebook page. The goal is to raise more than $1 million dollars. (the link is now live)

Rotary's 1.2 million members across the globe have taken swift action to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic. More than $3.4 million in Rotary Disaster Response Grants have already been put into action on the front lines to battle COVID-19. Additionally, millions more have been raised by our #PeopleofAction - they have responded quickly and are truly saving lives. Now, we need to do more and the need for additional funding is a priority.

Join this live event to hear stories of hope, inspiration and gratitude from Rotarians, Rotaractors and friends of Rotary from across the globe as they share what they are doing to help their communities. The telethon will also showcase how our polio eradication infrastructure is helping to combat COVID-19.
