MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

There are just two regular meetings remaining in my year. This week you will hear about the accomplishments of your individual Board members. We had our first Club Assembly last December, which was a summary of the first 6 months. Now we get to close out our year with the accomplishments of the entire year.

As I have often said, when I met with the Past Presidents during my PEE and PE year to take advantage of their experiences, I was so grateful for their council, mentorship and genuine desire to help me be the best President I could be.

In all my discussions, there were three universal points:

- Begin and End the meeting on time. Check

- Your President year will be the best you ever have in your Rotary career. Check
- You will have one big thing during your year.

Well, I really had three, but the first two paled in comparison to the coronavirus and its directives. Checkmate.

Making the decision to cancel live events and go virtual was the right thing to do. However, I and many members likely began to feel as the weeks stretched into months, was this a new normal for our club as well as most clubs worldwide? Still cannot answer that question, but cancellation of our District Conference and the International Convention made that a possibility.

It is my goal to bring our club back to the greatness we have known for the last 97 years, end my year on a high note and pass the baton to Incoming President Richard Jost.

Please enjoy the Board members reports and our accomplishments in this week's Wheel.

A special thank you to:

- Shawn Noorda for keeping the club running smooth and listening to me.
- Marie Walsh and John Ingeme for running our weekly raffle
- Dr Andy Kuniyuki as Speakers Chair, some of the best speakers I have heard
- Fawn Chandler for producing the Wheel each week
- The whole gang at Bolt Goodly for weekly website and podcast updates

Two Years in Japan (and the World): My Rotary Peace Fellowship Experience

Florence Maher, Rotary Peace Fellow in Tokyo (2018-2020)

Nearly two years ago, I arrived in Japan to begin a Master's degree in Peace Studies as a Rotary Peace Fellow. Promoting peace is one of Rotary's six focus areas as part of building international relationships, improving lives, and creating a better world. The Rotary Peace Fellowship supports this goal by training peacebuilders at seven Rotary Peace Centers on five continents. The center in Tokyo welcomed its first class of Fellows in 2002, and in August 2018 I joined nine other professionals as part of the center's 17th cohort. The thousands of Peace Fellowship alumni now working worldwide to prevent and resolve conflict and build sustainable solutions form an incredible network and embody Rotary's on-going commitment to peace.

My experience as a Peace Fellow consisted of three pillars: academics, professional development, and community engagement. The core of the program is devoted to graduate studies, and during the first year I focused on my coursework in peace and international development. During the spring, the Fellows at ICU visited Hiroshima and we met with Japanese peace activists, including a survivor of the atomic bomb. I then traveled to Mexico to conduct interviews for my thesis on business and human rights, the writing of which consumed much of my time and attention during the second year of the program. The ICU Rotary Peace Center has a strong academic focus, and every Fellow must draft and defend a substantive thesis. Fortunately, I am happy to report that I successfully passed my thesis defense!

In addition to the academic curriculum, professional development is an important component of the Fellowship program. Each Peace Fellow is required to spend several months in an "Applied Field Experience" of their design, with the goal of moving the skill-building out of the classroom and into direct practice. During the summer between my first and second years, I interned at the OECD in Paris, France, where I supported international cooperation on the peaceful use of nuclear energy. Based on my summer experience, I am planning to work in an international organization after finishing the Fellowship.

Engagement with the local community, including the Japanese Rotarians, has been a significant and meaningful aspect of the program. Upon arrival in Tokyo, I was met at the airport by my Japanese Rotarian host counselor, Joji "George" Kitami of the Yokohama Konan Rotary Club. His club and district welcomed me and invited me to many events. In the university neighborhood, I volunteer monthly with an English conversation club for Japanese from the surrounding community to practice English and interact with international students. I also sang in a local choir and organized a bilingual peace workshop with a municipal civil society organization, "Glocal Mitaka."

My Peace Fellowship has enriched me immeasurably: I immersed myself in peace research, acquired new professional experiences, and developed wonderful relationships with the other Peace Fellows and the Japanese host community. I hope that the Fellowship continues to flourish and to cultivate peacebuilders with local roots and global visions. Thank you for your generous support!
