Director of Aviation at McCarran Airport

Rosemary A. Vassiliadis is the Director of Aviation for Clark County, Nevada, having been appointed to lead the Department of Aviation in 2013. The system is anchored by McCarran International Airport which handled a record 51.5 million passengers in 2019. In addition to directing all operations at McCarran, she oversees four general aviation airports in Southern Nevada. Vassiliadis manages a staff of 1,300 employees and directs an airport system that employs nearly 13,000 people. Prior to taking over as head of the department, Vassiliadis served as its deputy director, giving her nearly 25 years in aviation leadership.

Most recently, Vassiliadis led LAS through the unprecedented impacts of COVID-19. By adopting new best practices and implementing innovative strategies, the airport was able to maintain operations and provide a safe and healthy travel experience for those who needed to fly. With a focus on cost containment and operational efficiency, and in keeping with the latest guidance from public health officials, she continues to lead her team through the economic recovery and the welcoming back of visitors to this world-class destination.

Vassiliadis has been an active voice in aviation and tourism issues and is regularly invited to speak at numerous tourism industry conferences both domestically and internationally. She served an extended term on the board of the U.S. Travel Association, and has played an active role on Capitol Hill, educating and persuading senators, House members, and administration officials on a variety of issues critical to domestic and foreign travel. She has served on several committees for Airports Council International, and is currently on the board of the American Association of Airport Executives.

Under her direction, the airport has joined the fight against human trafficking. She's worked with law enforcement and human trafficking experts to train and educate airport employees, establish escape opportunities for victims, and elevate awareness of this international tragedy.

Vassiliadis' focus on operational efficiency and financial prudence comes from her educational and professional background. She graduated with a degree in accounting from DePaul University, served as the budget chief for City of Las Vegas, and was appointed Clark County Director of Finance.

Vassiliadis has been married for more than 30 years, having raised two successful children. She's also a fanatic supporter of the Chicago Cubs.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT-ELECT

Will it build goodwill and better friendships?

Albert Schweitzer said "Sometimes our light goes out but is blown into flame by another human being. Each of us owes deepest thanks to those who have rekindled this light."

What an opportunity we have as Rotarians. As I thought about this third question of our Four Way Test the remembrances from 9/11 were still fresh. We are still reeling from the effects of a devastating virus. And we are barraged every day by angry political rhetoric from every direction.

Amid the horror and devastation of 9/11 as people who were lucky enough to be escaping those buildings they were all dazed and dirty, CEO or mail room clerk. And people rushed to help. The guy down the street you never spoke to might have been the one to pull you from a burning building. There was a sense of coming together to fight a common threat.

Today we continue to battle a deadly disease that has ravaged the world, toppled economies and touched each and every one of us. Our first reaction is what can we do to help?

It seems impossible today to escape the negative angry noise that is blasted in every direction:

political, racial, ethnic or geopolitical. Again, how do we help?

We come together, sit at the same table, share experiences and lend a hand. We read to a child, give a pair of shoes, provide food. Build a school in India or provide clean water to a village in Africa. Send a scholar to study abroad or welcome a foreign student into our home.

As Rotarians we come together from many diverse backgrounds and perspectives in service of others. We have the opportunity to work with Rotarians in many countries. We put our differences aside in the interest of the common good not only in our own community but across the globe.

And have fun doing it.

What better way to build goodwill and better friendships?

In the immortal words of Tim McGraw:
When you get to where you are going
Don't forget, turn back around
Help the next one in line
Always stay humble and kind

The Las Vegas Rotary Foundation is the main foundation of the Las Vegas Rotary Club—the first service club formed in Las Vegas in 1925. The Rotary has continuously supported the community for nearly 100 years through voluntary contributions from members of the club, partners of the foundation and thousands of volunteer hours in support of local programs.

The Rotary's primary focus remains on children and students. Its annual reading program, in partnership with Spence the Word, provides $25,000 in new books each year to elementary schoolchildren in high-need schools. And its Santa Clothes program provides a week's worth of clothes, socks and shoes to low-income children. In 25 years, the program has given $1.5 million in services and donations, and has helped about 10,000 children in Las Vegas.
