

Michael Brown

Nevada Economic Development Czar Global Alliance

Michael Brown is the Executive Director of the Nevada Governor's Office of Economic Development, appointed by Governor Steve Sisolak on November 4, 2019. This is Mr. Brown's second cabinet-level appointment in the Sisolak Administration as he previously served as the Director of the Department of Business & Industry.

Mr. Brown brings vast experience to the Sisolak Administration. Previously, he held two roles at Barrick Gold of North America, the world's largest gold mining company. First, he served as the Vice President of U.S. Public Affairs before becoming the president of the organization. In addition, he served eight years under President Ronald Reagan at the U.S. Treasury as Special Assistant to the Director of the United States Mint and the U.S. Mint's Citizens Coinage Advisory Committee under U.S. Senator Harry Reid. He started his career in the Ohio House of Representatives, working for Representative William Batchelder.

A first-generation college student, Mr. Brown attended Lorain County Community College before earning a bachelor's degree in Labor & Industrial Relations at Ohio State University and a master's degree in Business from George Washington University.

His dedication and passion have been recognized in many forms. In 2015, he received the Civitas Laurel award from the Foundation for an Independent Tomorrow. In 2016, the Latin Chamber of Commerce recognized him as a Señores of Distinction. In 2017, Mr. Brown was recognized as an Education Hero by the Public Education Foundation, and in 2018 he was named a Distinguished Alumnus of Lorain County Community College.

Currently, Mr. Brown serves as a board member for the Las Vegas Global Economic Alliance, Public Education Foundation, and Nevada Ballet Theatre.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Rotary has a remarkable record when it comes to health initiatives. We've helped bring polio to the brink of eradication, and clubs have carried out myriad projects focused on preventing disease and supporting maternal and child health. Now the global pandemic has brought attention to another aspect of health that is often overlooked: mental health. In many places, depression and anxiety are sometimes seen as things to be kept quiet or not discuss.

I've experienced it recently in my own family and I know it has affected members of our club. Two weeks ago, a boy I coached in baseball for a decade took his life. He came from a great family. He was such a kind, sweet, always respectful, young man. I had no idea the mental battles he must have been fighting.

Social distancing, self-quarantines, and lockdowns, all of which have been necessary to reduce the spread of COVID-19, help keep us safe but also isolate us, creating feelings of loneliness and anxiety. These feelings are often exacerbated as we age.

Why do we suffer psychologically when we're isolated physically? For Sylvia Whitlock, a semi-retired marriage and family therapist and member of the Rotary Club of Claremont, California, the answer is simple: "Isolation is a stress-producing state, as one of our human needs is for connections."

People are suffering everywhere, even in our club. Many of us deal with it differently. Some stay home, some are easily offended and some staying quiet get very depressed. It is hard to tell when someone is suffering, so let's take every opportunity to be kind, turn the other cheek and be of service.

According to an expert on aging, a key attribute to living well into retirement is a willingness to forgive. Forgiveness heals the heavy heart.

Let's forgive ourselves, those close to us and others. Over time offenses can pile up, but nothing clears the air like a healthy dose of forgiveness. Some choose to nurse grudges and polish up old put-downs, but what a burden that is to carry throughout our lives! Forgiveness feels so much better.

As Rotarians we're really good at helping others, especially in the Las Vegas Rotary Club. But keep in mind, there is a great chance someone with whom we regularly interact is fighting a battle of which we know nothing. Let's be the smile, the listening ear or the helping hand she or he needs.
